A DESPERATE MURDERER. He Killed a Boy and His Grandfather

for $400. MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 22.-The prisoner who eluded his custodian and jumped from a swiftly moving train at Corfu, N.Y., yesterday, escaping to the woods, is Michael Schieber, a Minneapolis under peculiar circumstances December 7 last. Schieber was a resident of Bavaria and last October married a widow with a son five years old. In the event of the death of this boy an inheritance of 1,600 marks or about $400 would fall to his mother, Mrs. Schieber. In order to gain this paltry sum Schieber pushed the boy into the creek and drowned him. The child's grandfather, an old man named Sturm, taxed Schieber with the crime. The latter went to Sturm's the crime. The latter went to Sturm's house and shot him through the window, killing the old man as he was washing his face. With his last breath Sturm gasped the name of his assassin. Schieber fled to Bohemia, where he purchased a passport from a man named Mathias Kuttle, emigrated to America and then resumed his own name. Coming to Minneapolis Schieber went to work for a farmer named Marks at Edina Mills. Marks read an account of the tragedy in a Milwaukee German paper and the similarity of names of the murderer and his new hired man struck him as peculiar. He questioned Schieber as to where he came from and the latter answered. Marks persuaded Schieber to come to Minneapolis to have a felon on his hand treated, and on arriving here surrendered the murderer to the police. Schieber admitted his identity and finally confessed that he killed his step son and old man Sturm. He waived extradition proceedings, and, acting under orders from the State department at Washington, Deputy Marshal Hoy was taking Schieber to New York, where he was to have been turned over to the German consul general, Rochester, N.Y., Jan. 22.—The German mur-derer, Michael Schieber, who escaped from a Minneapolis detective from a Central train at Corfu yesterday, was captured a few miles from the place where he jumped last evening. He was not injured, and had in his possession a revolver of German make. He was at a farm house warming himself by the fire.

AN INDIANA SENSATION. A Parson and a Widow Arrested for Murder.

LAFAYETTE, IND., Jan. 22.-Mrs. Elma C. miles south of the city, was placed in jail here yesterday charged jointly with the Rev. W. Fred Pettit with murder in the first degree. Pettit, an ex-Methodist minister, was arrested at Columbus, Ohio, December 5, for the murder of his wife last July by strychnine. He bail was fixed at $10,000, but he was unable to give it, and the warrant issued for him was read to him in pail this morning. Mrs. Whitehead is suspected of complicity. Mrs. Whitehead was summoned as a witness before the grand jury, but declined to testify as her answers was ordered to answer by the court and was held for contempt for not doing so.

SOCIAL MATTERS. The State Dinner at the White House

Last Night-Personal Mention. The White House was brilliantly illuminated last night for the state dinner given by President and Mrs. Harrison to the diplomatic corps.
The mantels and mirror rests of the state drawing rooms were banked with a profusion of cut flowers and tall palms, blooming azalea trees and poinsetta bushes filled the corners and window recesses; the mantels of the red par-lor with growing blooming white hyacinths in lor with growing blooming white hyacinths in gilded baskets. The quantity of narcissus blossoms used in the blue room decorations filled that end of the house with heavy perfume. The usual table in the state dining room was extended to accommodate the large party that the assembled members of the diplomatic corps makes by the placing of transverse boards at each end of it, giving it the form of a letter I. Upon the main board at each end were floral hemispheres representing in geographical outlines the representing in geographical outlines the northern and southern half of the globe. The water was represented by the glossy green leaves of the cypress and the continents escaping to the woods, is Michael Schieber, a were done in carnations. In the center of the table was an oblong cushion composed Minneapolis under peculiar circumstances Dethe table were flat squares of roses set in smi-lax. The silver and gold candelabra were filled with white tapers that burned under white and pale yellow shades in the form of water lilies. For each man there was a single orchid by his name card, and the ladies had bouquets of delicate pink orchids tied with white ribbon. The wonderful blossoms were of the rarest and each bunch was obtained at a cost of $10. There were also round plates of strawberries on the table and the usual confections. The table was laid with forty-eight

The President and Mrs. Harrison received their guests in the east room, though quite a number of them had arrived before they came down stairs. Mrs. Harrison wore a most be-coming dinner dress of rich white faille made with a full, plain, round train; the front was draped with white mousseline de soie, and the body, which was cut round at the neck, was body, which was cut round at the neck, was richly trimmed with pearl embroidery and bangles. At 8 o'clock the Marine band, led by Prof. Sonsa, struck up the first bars of the "Presidential Polonaise" and the President led the procession with the wife of the Mexican minister upon his arm. They were followed by the French minister, M. Roustan, and Madama Guzman. There were but ten ladies Madame Guzman. There were but ten ladies at table. The number that sat down was fortysix, as at the last moments Senor Salvador de Mendonca, the envoy extraordinary from Brazil on special mission, came in dressed in full diplo-matic attire and announced to the President and Mrs. Harrison that Mme. de Mendonca had been taken violently ill while being attired. He then withdrew and returned to his home. Mrs. Romero, wife of the Mexican minister, who took precedence in the absence of the Italian minister and the Baroness Fava, who sent regrets, being in court mourning for the death of the duke of Aosta, sat at the President's right, was exquinitely attired in princesse robe of rose heliotrope brocade and satin. The gown fitted her figure with a clinging devotion that made it seem inspired with living grace. Madame Guzman was in white silk embroidered in gold. The bill which was passed to amend the revised statutes makes the three sections read as follows: Section 1529. The vessels of the navy of the United States shall be divided into four classes as follows: First rates, second rates, third rates and fourth rates. Section 1530. Vessels of and above 5,000 tons displacement Vessels of and above 5,000 tons displacement shall be classed as first rates; those of and above 3,000 and below 5,000 tons displacement as second rates; those of 1,000 and above, but below 3,000 tons displacement as third rates, and all those less than 1,000 tons displacement as fourth rates. Section 1531. The vessels of the navy shall be named by the Secretary of the Navy modes the direction of the President as as second rates; those of 1,000 and above, but below 3,000 tons displacement as third rates, and all those less than 1,000 tons displacement as fourth rates. Section 1531. The vessels of the navy shall be named by the Secretary of the Navy under the direction of the President, according to the following rule: Battle ships shall be named after the states of the Union, cruisers after the cities, unarmored coast-defense vessels after rivers and armored coast-defense vessels after inverse and armored coast-defense vessels after rivers and armored coast-defense vessels are recommended. In the Police Court, Judge Mills, Willis Ragan was charged today with the larceny of $32 from Charles Hanson on Sunday last. The latterised that on Sunday morning he left to the service for which they are designed. They Say it is a Public Sewer.

In the case of Jacob Franz against the Disstrict to restrain the use of the sewer which he alleges was laid on 7th street for a private pur pose, the District Commissioners have their answer. They say while Franz and Meister constructed it, it was with the understanding that when completed it became public property and deny that there is any legal ground to complain that Balloch is using it. The divided town of Bristol has 5,388 inhabitants on the Virginia side and 5,104 on the Tennessee side. WANTED---HELP.
